Welcome to Sweet Briar

First Year Assistant Katie Tipton welcomes Phlicia Reid at the Conference Center during check-in.

You arrive at Sweet Briar on Saturday morning anxious, nervous, and uncertain of what this new place will be like. Then, when you see that everyone else's uncertainty is the same as your own, you begin to relax. Soon you find yourself exploring the open doors down the hall, laughing at the silly games you played during Learning on the Land, and calling for new friends to sit with you in Prothro. Orientation at Sweet Briar is about getting to know new friends in a new home.

First Day

You know you look horrible after walking around all day, unloading and moving your stuff into your new room. You're sweaty, disheveled, and dirty when you finally meet your roommate, the stranger whom you're going to live with for the next year. Her parents are there, your parents are there. You don't really know what to say because you are full of excitement as you begin your journey through college.

Lauren Hogan and team leader Sara Rothamel pose in triumph when they find their way after getting lost during Learning on the Land.

Orientation is about getting to know Sweet Briar as a school, but it is even more about getting to know people - both those you will be living with and others around campus. People are one of the most important things about Sweet Briar. -Carlie Adams

Football players from local high schools played a big part in helping with the moving in process. "It was really good watching the little guys sweat," said Courtney Hurt. "They really helped out a lot!"

First years from Grammer First Floor and their Learning on the Land leader, Dean Green, say hello.

Quad Rocks

The Campus Events Organization started off the semester with two outdoor concerts featuring three Virginia bands. Rainmarket rocked Quad Rocks I on August 25th, which also included the annual fall club fair, a caricature artist, and a late-night breakfast made by Co-Curricular Life staff members. The band's mix of original songs and covers got many students dancing, while others caught up with friends at the numerous club tables.

Two weeks later, on September 8th, CEO hosted Quad Rocks Strikes Back featuring Carbon Leaf and Sparky's Flaw. The party included a moon bounce and Mexican food. With a large crowd that was ready for some music, Sparky's Flaw, a Charlottesville-based band and a Sweet Briar favorite, started the night with a high energy set of new and old songs like "The New Year" and "One Small Step." The headlining band, Carbon Leaf, followed and played for a crowd that came from all over Virginia to see them. With lots of fun and great music, the two Quad Rocks concerts were a huge success.

Sparky's Flaw saxophonist Kit French and lead singer Will Anderson open Quad Rocks Strikes Back. The band previously performed at SBC in the fall of 2005.

Carbon Leaf front man Barry Privett sings a track from their newest album Love Loss Hope Repeat, which was released a few days after the concert.

Founders' Day

Friday, September 22nd

One of the oldest and most meaningful traditions at Sweet Briar, Founders' Day, is celebrated in the fall of each year to honor Indiana Fletcher Williams and her husband James Henry Williams who created the college in memory of their daughter Daisy. On this day the members of the college, including students, faculty and staff, gather to commemorate those who established the outstanding institution that they are a part of today.

The sophomores escort the seniors, their sister class, just as freshmen escort their sister class, the juniors, to Monument Hill for the annual ceremony, which is preceded by a convocation. Wearing their academic robes for the first time, seniors lead the school in placing daisies on the headstones of the Williams family.

Chaplain White leads the gathering in the singing of "Amazing Grace."

Eleanor O'Connor looks back at a friend on her way up to Monument Hill.

Class of 2007 Seniors gather after the ceremony on Mounment Hill.

"Between the alumnae, faculty, staff, and students, the Gala celebrated what Sweet Briar is - a lasting community that you can come home to over and over."

- Cathy Gutierrez, faculty

"Without a doubt, the Gala was one of the single greatest times I've had here at SBC. I vote we celebrate every Saturday like this."

-Leslie Lewis, Class of 2009

President Elisabeth Muhlenfeld with seniors Lynnsey Brown, Meagan Chenault and Ferrell Lyles

The Gala

Saturday, September 23rd

On Saturday, September 23rd, Sweet Briar College celebrated the end of a monumental capital campaign which raised over 110 million dollars. The event itself was nothing short of monumental; in the spirit of the campaign, the celebration was on a grand scale.

In true Sweet Briar fashion, the Homecoming Gala was not only a stunning sight but also a fabulous success. Attended by faculty, staff, students, alumnae and their guests, totalling approximately one thousand five hundred people, it was a night that surely won't be forgotten.

The elegant white tents were overflowing with people, fantastic food arrangements and stunning decor. Guests spent the evening surrounded by good friends celebrating Sweet Briar at a truly unique event.

Soccer

The soccer team completed their season working together to accomplish many things. The team consisted of three seniors, three juniors, three sophomores, and seven first-years. They started off the season on a good note when they defeated Salem College in their first game. They beat Salem College again at home later on in the season. The Vixens also beat Hollins University at home soon after that.

Senior, Cat Ashley broke a team record for the number of appearances, with 61 over her four years of playing college soccer at Sweet Briar.

Sophomore, Bethany Magee switched to defense this season receiving honorable mention honors in the ODAC All-Conference Team. She is ranked 5th among conference players in assists with 7.

The team finished their season with a 3-12 record.

Laura Hanold, first-year, defends the goal from a Washington & Lee opponent after Kristin Johnson, goalie, already made one save..

Helen Phillips, first-year, headbutts the ball away from the Guilford College Quakers.

Meagan Bell, sophomore, digs a hit from the opposing team.

Lindsay Nodtvedt, first-year, middle hitter, spikes the ball over the blockers on the opposing team.

The volleyball team showed much growth as the season played out. With the departure of many upper class women, the team consisted of four sophomores and seven first-years. This young team was able to work together to beat Spelman College in a tri-match at Methodist College early on. They also pulled out a win in their first home match of the season against the Guilford College Quakers. They worked hard for their win against Salem College in a tri-match at Salem College.

Sophomore Meagan Bell earned honorable mention honors in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference Volleyball All-Conference Team. She achieved 9 kills and 188 digs this season. She also served up 26 aces to accomplish a team best.

Among the seasons highlights commented sophomore Dori Rucker were dinner at the coach's house (affectionately nicknamed "Mom and Dad's" their first team win against Spelman College, and cooking at the Cutchin and Nodtvedt houses.

Throughout the season the team remained unbeaten and continued to try their hardest finish off the year with a 3-19 record.

Volleyball

Field

The field hockey team showed much promise for success in seasons to come this year. With one senior, three juniors, five sophomores, and five first-years representing Sweet Briar, the Vixens managed to complete the season in good standing.

Sophomore, Cat Cox completed her first year as goalkeeper for the Vixens and accomplished much in her first year between the pipes. She earned honorable mention honors in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference announcement of their Field Hockey All-Conference teams. She turned back 182 saves which averaged 12.13 saves per game. This ranked her 7th nationally.

Sophomore, Sarah Goldstein also earned honorable mention honors in the ODAC All-Conference teams for her contribution of 3 goals for 6 points and 1 defensive save.

The Vixens managed to keep the Hill City Cup for the 3rd year in a row when they beat Randolph-Macon Women's College. The team finished the year with a 2-13 record.

Hockey

Blair Sutton, sophomore, Catherine Cox, junior, Megan Behrle, sophomore, Ann-Gordon Bennett, first-year, and Sara Sheppard, first-year, stand in a defensive penalty corner at the Sewanee game.

Stephanie Norris, the team's only senior, breaks away after stealing control of the ball from a Mary Washington opponent.

The title of our class speaks to the unique combination of sass and seriousness that constitutes the Rockin' Class of 2007. We are one of the smallest classes on campus but also one of the most tight-knit. If I had to pick a few words to describe my classmates I would go with: determined, confident, fun, HOT, smart, and most importantly individualistic. I know it is hard to think of a group as a party full of individuals but I think that element is what makes our class so rockin'!

Even though we are all dancing to our own beats, we dance as a team, celebrating differences and finding strength in our similarities.

Riding Council members Jessica McCarthy, Mary Pat Jones, Alison Sims, and Brooke Schulze even gave their horses Christmas decorations as they attended Tree Lighting.

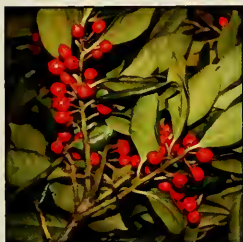

Senior Ferrell Lyles reaches high up on the Christmas tree to place an ornament.

A Sweet Christmas

On November 27th, Sweet Briar kicked off the 2006 Christmas season with a beautiful tree lighting ceremony hosted by the Student Government Association. Riding Council Members and their horses walked around the Upper Quad in an opening procession, followed by traditional carols led by the Sweet Tones. Audience members were given candles to hold as the tree was lit and they joined the Sweet Tones in caroling.

In addition to the tree in the Upper Quad, the Chapel was decorated for the season. Hosted by the Chaplain's Office and the Sweet Spirits, Chapel Decorating took place on November 29th. Garlands were draped around the balcony railing, candles and greenery were added to each of the windowsills, poinsettias were placed around the altar and a giant Christmas tree was wrapped in lights and adorned with ornaments - all in anticipation of the annual Vespers Service. While decorating, students and staff members listened to Christmas music and sang along to catch the Christmas spirit.

Candles are traditionally passed out during Tree Lighting to each member in the audience.

Sarah Martin, a senior and a Sweet Spirit, helps decorate the balcony during Chapel Decorating.

academic focus

I like the small classes of bright, interested, and involved students.

-Professor Metzidakis

Tradition, skill and knowledge-based gen-eds, the honor code—these are all things that make Sweet Briar College a unique place to earn an education. Sweet Briar offers skill-intensive courses and places a focus on the achievement of useful knowledge that is applicable to real life. Self-designed and individually tailored majors are a remarkable benefit to the liberal arts education that is provided here. Both students and professors at Sweet Briar recognize this uniqueness.

The tight-knit classes, the relaxed atmosphere, and the close student-teacher relationships together promote the pursuit of meaningful academics. Sophomore Sarah Hall remarked, "I really like how the structure of the liberal arts education doesn't restrict you to solely your major—it allows you to become the true Renaissance woman!" Petra Dacheva, also a sophomore, noted that "because of the great professors you can truly pursue your passion and have fun along the way." There is a strong sense of connection between students and professors on campus, and that is something that makes Sweet Briar so special. It is not unusual for professors to host students at their houses for dinner or for classroom discussions to spill over into a long chat in the Cafe. When asked about teaching at Sweet Briar, Professor Karl Tamburr said, "I like the small size of it...I enjoy not only the classroom teaching but the friendships that I make with my students."

Intermediate Microeconomics students copy down the graphs, as Dr. Eugene Gotwalt discusses externalities.

Visiting Spanish professor, Pello Huesa, reviews verb conjugations with his Intermediate Spanish I students.

Mark Magruder and his Intermediate Modern Dance students. "I love teaching at Sweet Briar," Mark said. "I love my drive in every morning. It puts me in a good frame of mind."

Faculty Show

Jennifer Crispin was The Lady with All the Answers in 'Rumor Control.' "Hello? Rumor Control! Yes the Gala tents were made of silk... and so was the toilet paper."

The 2007 Faculty Show was a phenomenal clash of talent and tomfoolery. It only rolls around once every four years and it was certainly worth the wait. Faculty and staff donned outrageous costumes for Sweet Briar students' entertainment, performing gags and spoofs, with takes on Fear Factor and Project Runway. They even poked fun at local colleges and our own students with hilarious representations of stereotypical students from Ferrum College, Hampden-Sydney, Randolph College (fondly remembered as Randolph Macon Womens College), Virginia Military Institute, Liberty University, and Lynchburg College. Baby pictures and home videos gave the actors a break, while allowing students a glimpse into the lives of their professors. An appreciative crowd filled Murchison Lane Auditorium to the brim, making for a loud, receptive audience.

"I thought it was rather funny, except for a couple of times where it started getting a little corny, but it always bounced back. I especially liked seeing the Chaplain rock out," said one student, referring to the INSB musical performance that brought down the house. Professor Wassel, Chaplain White, Rob Granger, Mark Magruder and Tom Marcais had the audience singing along to songs like 'I Like Beer' and 'I Pledge.' All in all, the students were not disappointed with the long awaited Faculty Show.

The swim team consisted of one senior, two juniors, three sophomores and three first-years. This young team started off their season with a conference loss at Randolph-Macon College. The vixens quickly picked up momentum to defeat the College of Notre Dame. They hosted their first tri-meet and defeated both Virginia Military Institute and Greensboro College. They gained their first conference win against Emory & Henry College while suffering their second conference loss to Washington & Lee University. They then started a winning streak when they beat conference teams Hollins University and Randolph-Macon Women's College, as well as non-conference teams King College, Salem College, and Agnes Scott. Their 10th win happened at their tri-meet at Guilford College to end their conference record 4-2. They were defeated by non-conference team Catawba to end their overall season 10-3.

This season proved to be a successful one individually for First-year Hannah Hesser when she set a school record in the 800 meter freestyle at the Guilford College tri-meet. Hannah was also named Old Dominion Athletic Conference Swimmer of the Week in November as well as in January.

To end a fantastic season the Vixens placed third in the conference at the 2007 ODAC Atlantic States meet at Radford in February, with 341 points overall. They had a total of 28 top-twenty finishes during the three-day competition.

Jenny Walkiewicz (Bud), Laurel Sanders (Jack), Lindsay Mills (Winston) all members of the 9th category team compete in a hunt during Parents Weekend.

Kelly Ryskewich and her horse Orion ride around the outdoor ring.

Lauren Stephens and her horse Lego compete in the Culpeper Horse Show.

The riding program at Sweet Briar is an enjoyable opportunity for students, where anyone has the chance to take lessons and possibly compete. The riding program this year had an excellent year. They won a high-point team award in the IHSA show, placing them second in the regional standings. By the end of the show, the team had earned thirty-five total points, which was enough to win the award. Along with many other wins, SBC riders excelled at various other competitions, including the SWVHJA horse show in October in which they won many medals to take home with them. Congratulations to all those riders who competed and were awarded ribbons that day!

Jennifer Summerfield, the only senior on the IHSA riding team, responded to the question of how she enjoyed Sweet Briar riding by saying, "I've really enjoyed the riding program here at Sweet Briar. My favorite thing has been learning to jump! I've never owned horses, so I've had lots of opportunities to do things here, like jumping and showing, that I would never have been able to do otherwise. I'm definitely going to miss the horses after this year!"

*Ludwig-Maximilians Universitat
Munich, Germany*

Studying abroad in Munich was one of the best decisions I've ever made. Here in Munich there are new things to discover everyday about the city and even myself! The language can be a challenge, but I know that by the end of this year my hard work will pay off! Every day is filled with a new adventure, challenge or discovery. While I miss Sweet Briar greatly, I will treasure every moment I have here in Germany!!

A woman in a dark jacket and pants stands on a sandy beach, looking towards the camera. The ocean waves are breaking around her, and the sky is a pale blue. The word "abroad" is written in large, white, serif font across the bottom of the image.

Caroline Tade '08
University of Tasmania
Hobart, Tasmania

I am studying abroad at UTAS (University of Tasmania)! I have done some pretty amazing things here, such as hiked to the second most beautiful beach in the world (Wineglass Bay), hugged some of the oldest and tallest trees on earth at Styx Valley, and held a koala. But probably the most important thing I have done while here, was be a reasearch assistant for a PhD candidate at UTAS, who is researching DFTD (Devil Facial Tumor Disease). It has decimated the island's tasmanian devil population, and has killed over half of the devils on the island! I spent 11 days with him, trapping and surveying devils in Narawntapu National Park.

The Class of 2008 is nothing short of amazing. These girls are confident, outgoing, and always welcoming. Three years together has taught us to support each other in everything. Our class is blessed to have talented athletes, brilliant scholars, and eternal encouragers. We each brought our personal strengths to Sweet Briar. We learned quickly that together, we are unstoppable. The illness of a dear friend and classmate has taught us to celebrate every accomplishment, as she celebrates with us. We are amazingly strong women. We are working hard to leave our mark on SBC. The greatest thing we will take away from our time here is the inspiration we gain from one another.

2010

We love Sweet Briar and are so happy to finally be a part of the SBC community. We are excited to bring fresh ideas and we love to make everything a new adventure! Our class wants to make our mark and make a difference. Henry David Thoreau once said, "Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined." That is what we, the Class of 2010, are doing. We are making a difference and changing the world, beginning with Sweet Briar.

Dream big, Class of 2010!

A Little Night Music

In October, the hills were alive with the sound of music - A Little Night Music, that is.

SBC students, faculty, and members of the community brought to life Stephen Sondheim's dramatic and poignant musical about three mismatched couples who ultimately discover true love. The musical is based on the beautiful Ingmar Bergman film, Smiles of a Summer Night.

Sondheim's sophisticated and romantic score (written entirely in waltz-time) vividly breathes life into the zany yet delightfully human characters.

A Little Night Music was a challenging production for the theatre department to tackle, from an acting and singing perspective as well as a technical one. In the end, the company was able to put on a wonderful show with wit and style of which Sondheim would have been proud.

Off Campus Adventures

As much as we all love Sweet Briar, sometimes we just need to get off campus and kick up our heels. With great places like Charlottesville, Roanoke, and Washington, D.C. all within driving distance, there is always somewhere new to go! Not to mention all the nearby colleges like UVA, VMI, W & L, and HSC. What's more fun than a road trip with the girls? When a study break is needed, we know where to go!

Patteson House

Patteson House opened in the Fall of 2006, welcoming upper class women. The House is named in honor of alumna Norma Patteson Mills, Class of 1960. Ms. Patteson, a loyal benefactor of Sweet Briar, remains active in the Alumnae Association in addition to serving on the Board of Directors for the College. In 2005 she was the recipient of the 2005 Outstanding Alumna Award.

Currently, the building houses both juniors and seniors. The newly renovated house on Elijah Road provides a more independent living environment than traditional dorm style housing. Throughout the house there are twelve bedrooms, including singles and doubles, that are home to under twenty students. There is a full kitchen as well as a washer and dryer provided for the residents. Patteson House has hardwood floors and large windows that provide a picturesque view of the campus. Patteson's residents can often be found having cook-outs in the front yard or even sledding down the hill behind the house.

body poised to dance
in the curl of a wave.
Shadow set free-
a bird flying towards your dreams...
guided by

May your flight
be filled with joy,
wonder, light,

Megen Blaesing

To My Little Nutmeg,
I am very proud of your accomplishments and achievements, full well knowing that this is just the beginning of more great things to come. Love, Dad

Meg Anne,
Seems like yesterday I was wrapping you tight with your baby blanket. Making sure I tucked every corner in just so. You were my little Megroll. Now you, baby-cakes, are on a "Roll of your Own". May your successes in the future be as bright as the accomplishments you've made already. Love, Mama

Meg,
Congrats, big sissy. You're a hard act to follow. But remember this, I'll always be taller than you. Love, Kirsten

Caitlin E. Cashin

Caitlin, the world is your oyster but you'll always be our pearl. When a child is born, parents always have hopes and dreams for them, you have exceeded every one of them. These four years have gone by fast and your time at Sweet Briar has prepared you well for the future. We look forward to being a part of all your achievements. "Be who you are and say what you feel, because those who mind don't matter and those who matter don't mind." - Dr. Seuss

We love you! Mom, Dad, Patrick, Grandma's, Grandpa's, Aunt's, Uncle's and Cousin's

Stephanie Norris

Congratulations my darling daughter, I am so proud of you!

Spread your beautiful wings and soar, the stars are within your grasp.

Love always, Mom

Kathleen Campanale

We hope your dreams take you to the corners of your smiles, to the highest of your hopes, to the window of your opportunities, and to the most special places your heart has ever known.

Love you bunches,
Mom & Dad

Whitney C. Wheeler

Whitney, It seems it was only yesterday when you were standing at the back of the auditorium waiting impatiently for your turn to walk down the aisle. You held your head high, the day was yours. You were graduating kindergarten. The world was yours. Today, that same little girl waits impatiently for her turn to again walk down the aisle. Much hard work and tears have been put into the last four years. When you walk down the aisle and receive your Diploma on May 12, 2007, it will be with the same confidence and smile - the world is now yours. We, your family, are especially proud you have successfully climbed over and around the numerous obstacles in your path on your way to graduation. We hope you will always look back with grateful recognition for the multitude of others who have given of themselves in order that you would succeed. Our thanks go to Sweet Briar College for the invaluable role in helping you grow to the wonderful young lady you have become and implanting a vision of the exciting possibilities that now await you as you truly begin the journey into the rest of your life.

Love always,
Mom, Jim, and Dadaw

Shavonne Clarke

Our Dearest Shavonne,

We are so proud of your growth as an intellect and as a person. You have never wavered from your dedication to obtaining a fine education at Sweet Briar.

We also wish to thank your professors at Sweet Briar College for doing a tremendous job - providing not only an outstanding education - but the personal attention and encouragement so difficult to find in this over-crowded, impersonal modern world.

Shavonne, we wish all the best in your life to come and will always love you.

Love,
Mom & Dad

Rosanna Hawkins

Rosanna,

Your hard work has paid off...

Graduation is at hand!

A new phase of life begins for you now.

Engage it with your usual enthusiasm.

Always remember we are your biggest fans!

We love you,
Dad & Mom

Kassie Caola

Dear Kassie,

It seems like only yesterday when we were blessed with a beautiful baby girl. We knew you would go into the world as an independent, strong young woman by the way you left for school, looking straight ahead, excited for your first day of school! That is why we always said you would be our butterfly.

Now you are a beautiful young woman with the confidence and knowledge to move on to your next adventure in your future. Always remember to be true to yourself, and know that not only are we here for you but God is always with you.

Congratulations! We are very proud of you and know that you will do well in all you endeavor. We love you up to the moon and stars, and back again.

God Bless You Always,

I wish I could have made time stand still. You must have been 3 years old before I ever let your feet touch the ground. You have gone from the one I watched over and protected to become my friend as well as my daughter; and you have been as good at that as you were the first. Forgive me if I will always see you as this, I love you and I'm very proud of you.

CONGRATULATIONS, SWEET SLOAN!

These things we have loved: your world-class laugh; your keen insight into your environment and those in it; our breakfast poetry sessions; your passion for art and its history; your tenacity; your gentle way with children, and that gourmet touch in our kitchen. Most of all, we just love YOU! Congratulations to you, our delightful daughter, and to your wonderful SBC friends. Mom, Dad, Clancey, Gramma, Marilyn, and many other proud FOS (Fans of Sloan).

Remember:
Diablo 2, Northern & Pooh, Spanky, Dallas, Cami, galloping Effie up the hill, two hot girls & a Mustang, Lake Chelan, too fast on the pass, Civilization, hospital visits, pot roast, jousting the ponies, crazy jump courses, our snow chick, snowmobiling in Whistler, Colorado basement. Everything about us then and to come!
Congrats little sis!

Knowing and raising you has been an honor.
Best wishes for a life of happiness and success in being just who you are.
Congratulations

"Oh the places you will go"....it seems like only yesterday, as a 6 year old, you stood proudly at Kindergarten graduation reciting this Dr.Seuss poem with such energy and excitement! Today, you have reached far off places and experienced them to the fullest. Keep in mind, your journey is just beginning.

Lynnsey - the world will continue to offer you amazing opportunities. You have and will continue to have great achievements.

Your passion for life and for others defines who you are. We will always be proud.

Our special Laura,

Since you were born over 22 years ago, we have treasured every precious moment of your life. We know that life has thrown you some challenges that the lucky majority will never face, but we are so proud of the strength, dignity, humor, and grace with which you have faced and will continue to face those challenges. Your positive belief in mankind's potential to be and do good is an inspiration to us. Never allow that sweet smile that lifts us all to be changed by any of life's disappointments.

All our love,

Today you graduate,
by golly you did it!

At times it was tough,
but you kept going, sure enough.

You have many to thank,
and much to be proud of.

You had the will,
you now have the skills.

We believe that you are ready to debut,

So, put on your shoes
and set the pace.

We know you'll finish
in front of the race!

There are three types of people in this world:
those who make things happen, those who watch things happen and those who wonder what happened. We all have a choice. You can decide which type of person you want to be. Many people limit themselves to what they think they can do. You can go as far as your mind lets you. What you believe, you can achieve.

Note from the Editor

My past two years as editor of the Briar Patch have been amazing but this year has been the most special. Not only is it the first year that Sweet Briar's yearbook has been printed in full color, but I've also been lucky to have such a wonderful staff to work with. Girls, you are all so talented at what you do and I know that I'm leaving the book in good hands. Mom, Dad, Justus, Emily, Sarah, Tess, Katie, Margaret and Kelly - thank you for always supporting me.

I hope everyone enjoys viewing this book as much as I've enjoyed putting it together!
